[The U. S. Geological Survey, organized under the provisions of act of March 3, 1879, superseded the Geological and Geographical Survey of the Territories, the Geological Survey of the Rocky Mountain Region, and the Geographical Survey West of the One hundredth Meridian. The first report is merely preliminary. Subsequent volumes contain the report of the Director, administrative reports of chiefs of divisions, and special scientific papers. They are issued not only in a Bureau edition, but are also found in the series of annual reports of the Secretary of the Interior and of Mess. and Docs.]

	Interstate Commerce Commission: [This Commission was created by act of February 4, 1887, and was charged with the duty of regulating railway rates and facilities for interstate transportation and inquiry into the management of the business of all common carriers subject to its provisions. It was originally attached to the Department of the Interior, but by act of March 2, 1889, this relation was terminated. The publications of the Commission comprise annual reports, which contain information of value in determining questions connected with the regulation of commerce, suggestions as to additional legislation, statement of points decided by the Commission, etc.; statistics of railways issued annually, containing classification of railways and mileage, amount of railway capital, earnings and income, general expenditures, payments on railway capital, etc.; proceedings of annual conventions of the National Association of Railway Commissioners from 1889, and reports and opinions, issued in pamphlet form as rendered and later in bound volumes. These last, however, are not public documents of the U. S., being published by private parties.]
